The Board of Directors shall consist of the President, the First Vice-President, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the chairman of the Board of Trustees, and one additional member from each state, territory, or district, to be elected by the active members for the term of one year, or until their successors are chosen, and of all life directors of the National Educational Association. gations and liabilities, and to be held liable to pay and discharge all of the debts, liabilities, and contracts of the said corporation so existing, to the same effect as if such new corporation had itself incurred the obligation or liability to pay such debt or damages, and no action or proceeding before any court or tribunal shall be deemed to have abated or been discontinued by reason of this act.

SEC. 11. That Congress may from time to time alter, repeal, or modify this act of incorporation, but no contract or individual right made or acquired shall thereby be divested or impaired.

D. W. SPRINGER, Secretary

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

Resolved, That the National Education Association expresses its appreciation of the measures taken by the Committee of Arrangements to insure the success of this meeting. The large advance enrolment, the greatest in the history of the Association, the provision of satisfactory rooms for holding the various meetings of departments, the organization of information for the visiting members, the courteous welcome and generous hospitality of officials, teachers, and citizens of all classes, the reliable and informing reports of the public meetings appearing in the public press insure that the New York meeting of 1916 will be remembered as worthy of the metropolis of the nation and as setting a new standard for future meetings.

Resolved, That the President of this Association be authorized to name a committee of active members, of which committee the President of the Association shall be a member, to request the President of the United States to appoint a commission to investigate and report upon the condition of the woman on the farm and of the rural home of the United States.

Resolved, That the National Education Association indorses the cooperative movement for the promotion of citizenship education inaugurated by the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Labor.

Resolved, That the National Education Association urges upon the Congress of the United States the appropriation of fifty thousand dollars to be administered thru the United States Bureau of Education for the purpose of disseminating information as to the methods, standards, and established practices in the education of immigrants, and in stimulating the extension of the necessary educational facilities looking to the Americanization of the foreign-born or alien residents of this country.

Resolved, That the National Education Association again declares its belief in equal suffrage for men and women and urges upon its members the support of such measures as will hasten the consummation of this end.

Resolved, That the National Education Association calls the attention of the American people to the fact that teaching is a profession demanding for its successful practice a technical training that will put the teacher in possession of professional standards; that these professional standards can be maintained only by the employment of superintendents, supervisors, and teachers who have unquestioned professional qualifications for their work; that the members of the teaching profession can have and serve but one client, the public; that the public, therefore, owes a duty to itself and the members of the profession to see to it that only professional considerations enter into the employment, retention, and dismissal of teachers. The Association believes that the public can elevate and strengthen the professional status of teachers and thereby serve itself by securing legislation that shall embody the following provisions:

1. The powers and duties of superintendents of schools should receive definition by legislative enactment. Definite professional qualifications should be required by all appointees to office. The term of the superintendent of schools should be not less than three years; the power of nominating all teachers and members of the educational staff should be given the superintendent.

2. The tenure of office of teachers should, after a probationary period, be permanent. Removal should be possible only for inefficiency, immorality, or grievous neglect of duty. Salaries should be fixed so as to insure to teachers a standard of living in keeping with the professional demands made upon them. Retiring allowances or pensions should be provided either by state or local action.

Resolved, That the National Education Association gives expression again to the consciousness that the school is an institution developed by society to conserve the well-being of humanity, and that on this solid foundation all subordinate aims and uses of the school should be made to rest. Assembled as it is, in a time of world-wide disturbance, doubt, and uncertainty, and of consequent national concern, the Association affirms its unswerving adherence to the unchanging principles of justice between persons and between nations; it affirms its belief that the instruction in the school should tend to furnish the mind with the knowledge of the arts and sciences on which the prosperity of the nations rests, and to incline the will of men and nations toward acts of peace; it declares its devotion to America and American ideals and recognizes the priority of the claims of our beloved country on our property, our minds, our hearts, and our lives. It records its conviction that the true policy to be followed, both by the school and by the nation which it serves, is to keep the American public school free from sectarian interference, partisan politics, and disputed public policies, that it may remain unimpaired in its power to serve the whole people. While it recognizes that the community, or the state, may introduce such elements of military training into the schools as may seem wise and prudent, yet it

FOLLOWING THE announcements, the conference adjourned and the active members of the Association reassembling by states at 5:30 P.M., either in sections of the Green Room, Hotel McAlpin, or at their respective state headquarters, for the selection of members of the nominating committee.

OSCAR T. CORSON, of Ohio: Mr. President and active members of the Association:

IRWIN SHEPARD

If all who knew Irwin Shepard, when he was with us, and who, now that he is gone from us, would welcome an opportunity to pay a loving tribute to his splendid character, noble life, and unselfish service, could speak, all the time of all the sessions of this great meeting would not be sufficient to hear the eulogies which would be offered in his memory.

If his former students could speak, they would unite in telling of his rare talent as an instructor in the classroom and of his abiding influence for good in their characters and lives.

If those who were associated with him as teachers both in the public and normal school could speak of him as superintendent or president, they would tell of his sympathetic direction in the performance of their duties, of his keen insight into educational problems, and of his devotion to the work he loved.

If the representatives of hundreds of social circles, which have been graced by his presence, could speak, they would tell of his charming conversational powers, of his delightful humor, and of his unvarying courtesy to all.

If general passenger agents of great railroad systems, managers of big hotels, and other captains of industry could speak, they would tell of his marvelous capacity for work, of his surprising knowledge and grasp of details, of his skill as a diplomat in avoiding the entanglements so likely to arise in the direction and control of great conventions, and of the possession of a business ability which, had it been dedicated to the management of commercial affairs, would have commanded a salary unknown in the educational world.

If the soldiers who took part in the civil strife of more than half a century ago, both those who wore the Blue and those who wore the Gray, could speak, they would tell of his bravery on the field of battle, of his patient suffering from the terrible wounds inflicted in the wilderness, and of his generous and forgiving spirit always manifested to those against whom he had contended. It is gratifying, in this connection, to record that in the last article prepared by him for publication in the Winona Daily Press, he pays a beautiful tribute to his friends in Southland and to their successful efforts of reconstruction along the lines of peace and progress.

If William T. Harris, Albert G. Lane, James M. Greenwood, and other great educational leaders, whose voices have been silenced by death, could speak, they would tell of his splendid intellectual endowment, of his rare success as an educator, and of the phenomenal work he accomplished in organizing and directing the affairs of the National Education Association in the two decades he served as its secretary. The growth of the Association in these two decades is shown in the following quotation from a letter by Secretary Springer, in reply to a letter asking for the information:

"Dr. Shepard became secretary between the 1892 and the 1893 meetings. The record for the 1892 meeting shows 183 life-members and 3345 annual members, with a Permanent Fund of $40,000. Up to 1898, he did not devote his entire time to the secretarial work. The record for the 1898 meeting shows an active membership of 2204 members and an associate membership of 11,452, with the Permanent Fund increased to $64,000. It was between the time of these two meetings that the distinction between active and associate membership was established. He retired following the 1912 meeting, the record for which shows 7865 active members and 9511 associate members with a Permanent Fund of $188,000."

On Memorial Day, May 30, 1916, Memorial Services in honor of Doctor Shepard were held in the chapel of the Winona State Normal School of which he was the loved president for nineteen years—1879 to 1898. Thru the kindness of President Maxwell, I have been permitted to read the copy for the Memorial Volume of the Normal School Bulletin, and from a few of the letters prepared for that volume by friends of many years the following brief quotations have been taken:

Nicholas Murray Butler: "Dr. Shepard was chosen secretary of the National Education Association in the winter of 1892-93 and served in that important and influential office until his voluntary retirement in 1912. During that period of twenty years, Dr. Shepard was the very soul of the National Education Association. He promoted in a hundred ways its interests and its activities and served loyally and devotedly its high purposes and ideals. . . . To unusual executive ability Dr. Shepard added singular unselfishness, high-mindedness, and loyalty. His friends were legion and his service peculiarly his own, both in its extent and in its variety."

John W. Cook: "When he entered upon his remarkable work as secretary of the National Education Association I had the coveted opportunity of coming into more intimate personal relations with him. Will the history of that notable service ever be adequately written? His characteristic qualities there found a field for their full and free exercise. He held the multitudinous details of that vast organization in his easy grasp. Nothing escaped him. He realized its vast significance as an educational agency. He was jealous of its good repute. He believed as thoroughly as anybody ever believed anything that its business affairs should bear the unmistakable mark of the most scrupulous integrity. It should set the high standard of square dealing. It should exemplify the application of the noblest ethical ideas to the management of an institution whose business side demanded the highest order of executive ability."

Charles W. Eliot: "I had a high respect for Dr. Irwin Shepard, a respect which increased with time and prolonged experience of his admirable qualities. He was prompt and accurate in his business, generous and just in his valuation of men and women, and conscientious and honorable in all his dealings with other people, no matter whether he thought them good, or bad, or of doubtful and variable quality."

J. Y. Joyner: "Dr. Shepard's death is a great loss to the cause of education in the whole nation, but this loss is as nothing compared with the keen sense of personal loss that the news of his death will bring to hosts of friends in every part of the country who were intimately associated with him in his great constructive work as secretary of the National Education Association, and who learned by this association to admire, honor, and love him as perhaps no other man in the Association was admired, honored, and loved."

J. H. Phillips (from a letter to Mrs. Shepard): "You have the consolation of the fact that Doctor Shepard still lives—he lives in the hearts of thousands of schoolmen and women thruout the length and breadth of this continent; he lives in the great organization he has guided and fostered thru the years; he lives in the imperishable record he has left—a record of service to God and mankind."

James A. Barr: "I am glad indeed to have the opportunity of paying tribute to the work and worth of Dr. Shepard. I knew him intimately for the past twenty-five years. As an executive, he had few equals and no superiors. When I became associated with the Panama Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco as director of congresses, I at once invited Dr. Shepard to assist in the work of organizing a great series of congresses as one of the principal features of the Exposition.

"His work in San Francisco, his last active work, will stand as one of his greatest achievements. His tact, energy, and resourcefulness were at their best. His letters to all classes of organizations were masterpieces. The success of the work in both its national and its international phases was due very largely to Dr. Shepard. He was one of the world's real executives."

My own acquaintance with Dr. Shepard began soon after he became secretary of the National Education Association, and grew in intimacy thru the years until 1899-1900 when I had the honor of serving as president of the Association, and thus had an opportunity to know him intimately in an official way. This experience marked the beginning of one of the most valued friendships of my entire life, and it is difficult to speak of him in any other relation than that of a dear friend whom I loved, and whose memory I revere because of his many noble characteristics. However, since to speak of him in this relation would not be appropriate at this time and on this occasion, I trust I may be indulged in a few words with reference to his great service as the "Great Secretary" of the National Education Association.

Notwithstanding the fact that during the first five years of his service as secretary he was able to give to the work only such time as he could spare from his duties as president of the Winona State Normal School, he succeeded in making such a remarkable record for efficiency in planning, organizing, and executing, as to create a universal demand among the members of the Association that he resign his position as president of the State Normal School and devote all his time to the secretaryship. Only those who knew him intimately can have any realization of the struggle thru which he passed in deciding to give up the work to which he had dedicated his life in order that he might accept the pressing call to new duties and great responsibilities.

Having decided, however, to accept the position of permanent secretary of the National Education Association in 1898, he entered with enthusiasm upon the work which was to win him international fame among educators. To his exceptional ability, untiring energy, and indefatigable efforts all that is best in the organization and history of the Association is largely due. Thru the period of its great growth and development, his was the guiding hand, and the National Education Association stands today as the national monument to the memory of Dr. Irwin Shepard and his service to education thruout the nation.

In all his success, due in no small measure to his wise diplomacy, he always remained true to his deepest convictions of right, and never swerved in his loyalty to duty. Under no circumstances would he sacrifice principle to policy.

His last letter to me, dated March 22, 1916, and penned in his beautiful handwriting, is signed "Loyally yours, Irwin Shepard." He often signed his personal letters to his intimate friends in that way. Loyalty was his most marked characteristic. He abominated deceit of any kind and had no sympathy with false pretenses under any conditions.

He was loyal to his country, and, when a normal-school student, enlisted as a soldier boy to fight in defense of the Union. He was loyal to his home and family, whose welfare was almost uppermost in his mind and heart; he was loyal to the pupils whom he taught and to the teachers with whom he served; he was loyal to the highest and best interests of the National Education Association to which he gave the best years of his useful life; he was loyal to duty, to friends, and to God, and, now that he has gone from us, thousands of loyal friends sincerely mourn his loss and revere his memory.

MR. CORSON: And, Mr. President, I will say that upon the suggestion of Mr. Springer, his successor, I have prepared this resolution for your consideration:

The National Education Association hereby records its sincere appreciation of the great service of Dr. Irwin Shepard as its secretary for twenty years; of his wisdom in directing its policy and administering its affairs; of his fidelity to duty, and of his loyalty at all times to the high ideals and noble purposes of both education and life to which the Association is dedicated.

I move you, Mr. President, the adoption of this resolution.

A MEMBER: By a rising vote.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You have heard the motion. All in favor of the resolution will indicate it by rising. All opposed, indicate it in the same way.

The resolution is unanimously carried.

J. G. Collicott prepared the following minute for the proceedings:

NEBRASKA CROPSEY

In compliance with the request of your Committee on Necrology I wish to present Indiana's tribute of respect and honor to one of her greatest public-school teachers—Nebraska Cropsey. For more than half a century she was a teacher in the elementary schools of Indianapolis. From 1875 to 1914 she served as assistant superintendent, in charge of the primary grades. On the day of her burial, March 11, 1916, the teachers and citizens of Indianapolis held a public memorial meeting in her honor. The following quotations are taken from a few of the tributes which were given to the life, the educational work, and the character of Miss Cropsey at that meeting:

From the resolutions of the Indianapolis teachers: "Miss Cropsey was quiet and unassuming. She never attempted to thrust her opinions on anyone, yet she was a woman of firm convictions, profound thought, and exact speech. She brought to her work in primary education a breadth of view rarely found among educators. She inspired confidence by reason of her kindness and her ability. She was a great moral force, a lofty spirit, sufficient, if met once in a lifetime, to make one feel that something unusual had come into his life."

From Lewis H. Jones, a former superintendent: "I think Miss Cropsey the greatest woman educator I have every known. Her personal character was supremely beautiful."

From Calvin N. Kendall, former superintendent of Indianapolis: "Miss Cropsey's fine influence permeated every department of the public schools. Fortunate, indeed, has been the city in possession for so long a period of such unusual service. I beg to express my own sense of personal obligation for the help and inspiration which she gave me during the pleasant years in which it was my privilege to be associated with her."

From the resolutions of the State Board of Education: "For almost half a century Miss Cropsey has been one of the acknowledged leaders in the field of elementary education in the state of Indiana and in the nation."

"The State Board of Education desires to pay its tribute of respect and appreciation to the worth of her splendid life of gentleness, faithfulness, and efficient personal service to the pupils and teachers in the public schools of Indiana."

From Margaret Hamilton, lifelong friend of Miss Cropsey: "In the death of Miss Cropsey we recognize that a rare spirit has left us, but we are blest with the beautiful memories that linger with us, and with the thought that it was our privilege for many years to work hand in hand with this noble woman, listening to her words of love and counsel."

From Mr. Shortridge, ex-superintendent of Indianapolis: "Miss Cropsey's strength, in my judgment, as a school officer, as a great leader, intellectual and moral, of school teachers and of school children, lay in the fact that she was a woman of rare good common-sense."

From Thomas C. Day, a lifelong friend and neighbor of Miss Cropsey: "Miss Cropsey maintained a wonderful poise in her physical bearing, in her attitude toward all persons, and I have thought that this was a symbol of her mind and heart. She approacht every question she discust, in a judicial frame of mind and she maintained it. She had the power, it seems to me—I have never known any other person to possess it so fully—of being able, as it were, to say to her tastes, her desires, her ambitions, her purposes of life, 'Stand aside; do not interfere with me; do not meddle, as I shall attempt to decide this question fairly and justly.' And I believe in no case that ever came under my notice did I observe the expression of any personal feeling with regard to persons with whom she may have had some controversies, who disagreed with her, perhaps. I have had occasion to look at her with surprise when she suggested some ameliorating condition, some excuse for persons whose actions were evidently subject to criticism. But she had that noble power to forget herself. I will not say that service was Miss Cropsey's religion, because it was not so. I prefer to say, what I believe to be true, that service with Miss Cropsey was a passion based upon her religion."

From Howard Sandison, vice-president of the Indiana State Normal School: "Miss Cropsey always represented herself as debtor to others, as obtaining valuable help from others, and I have never heard her talk nor act as if she believed she were conferring great things upon other people or upon the community in which she lived, but rather that she was receiving them. I bring the tribute of the State Normal School with which I am connected, and my own personal tribute which is that we look upon the work of Miss Cropsey as the strongest educational work which Indiana has had, and we feel that wisdom is justified of her children."

On the eighteenth day of June, 1913, Indiana University conferred upon Miss Cropsey the honorary degree of Master of Arts. At the funeral of Miss Cropsey, President William Lowe Bryan, of Indiana University, gave as his tribute to her life and work, the following address which he had given to the members of the graduating class when presenting Miss Cropsey for this degree:

Instead of a sermon I wish to present as my lesson for you, a person, a woman. She did not have your advantage. She did not go to college. She went to work at a low wage, at a hard task—at teaching, which Kipling calls a belittling business because it requires "incessant strenuous concern with the little things and so breeds petty habits which make life a narrowing and darkening prison."

But this woman found, as few of us in any business do, the great ways of escape.

For one thing, she learned to turn at times wholly away from her daily work. She learned to leave the school with its hurly-burly of methods and policies and politics and go apart into a mountain place, alone with the great philosophies, the great literature, the great words of the Spirit. She was at home there. She found there, far above the hurly-burly, wisdom to guide the children and those who serve them, and courage to fight those who prey upon them.

For a second and greater thing, she saw that the actual commonplace life with which she dealt in her daily work was commonplace only on its surface. She saw that the actual commonplace life with which she dealt day by day in the school is more wonderful than any philosophy concerning it. She saw that the most homely, ragged little beggar climbing up the ladder of school tasks toward what is possible for a man is a creation of infinite interest and mystery, baffling and challenging all the power of science, statesmanship, and religion. And she saw that the business was not a belittling business, because all her life she was to look deeper and deeper into the mystery of the child climbing toward all that is possible for a man.

For a third and greatest thing, she shared the audacious faith of Christ—that the highest good may come to the lowliest, must come to the lowliest, and that she must spend her life finding real ways of accomplishing the miracle in her own city. This is not a business which belittles. This is the highway to infinite life.

Her obvious monument is the schools of her city, for she is chief among those who, in fifty years, have advanced these schools to the very forefront. At its best, Indianapolis teaches its children to work and also to sing. There is no statesmanship beyond this—to bring up children ready to do the world's work and able also to sing.

No such life as hers can be easy. She has struggled with corrupt municipal politics, which was always in the background if not in the foreground, ready to undo her work, ready to make merchandise of her children. She has struggled with the perversities and rebellions of those to whom her life had been dedicated. She has seen at close quarters the dreadful daily tragedy of life as it is. And yet at the end of it, she who has fought thru the long struggle stands serene, unbittered, unafraid. I can preach you no sermon equal to this life.

Miss Cropsey, you are the first woman to whom this University has offered an honorary degree. I am far from proud of this fact. I am proud of the fact that the University so rarely grants its honorary degrees to anyone, that in twenty-eight years it has chosen three—John W. Foster, David Starr Jordan, James Whitcomb Riley. The university of the state which you have served judges that you belong with these men. And we rejoice to entitle you, as you are in truth—Master of Arts."

The next order of business is the report of the Executive Committee.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The Executive Committee reports as follows:

To the Active Members of the National Education Association:

As required by the by-laws of this Association, your Executive Committee has carefully considered the requests for appropriations which have been presented by the chairmen of the various committees, both general and departmental. We believe that the Association can, with safety, appropriate the amounts named to the following committees, to be used by them during the year 1916-17.

Committee on Salaries, Tenure, and Pensions	$1,000
Committee on Health Problems in Education	1,000
Committee on Vocational Education and Vocational Guidance	500
(This appropriation is made on the understanding that the committee is to make a final report in 1918.)
Commission on the Reorganization of Secondary Education	1,000
(This appropriation is made on the understanding that the committee is to make a final report in 1917.)
Committee on the Improvement of Physics-Teaching	200
Committee on Superintendent Problems	500
(This appropriation is made on the understanding that the committee is to make a final report in 1917.)
Committee on Economy of Time in Elementary Education	250
(This appropriation is made on the understanding that the committee is to make a final report in 1917.)
Committee on the Culture Element and Economy of Time in Education	50
(This appropriation is made on the understanding that the committee is to make a final report in 1917.)
Committees from the Library Department	125
Committees from the Department of School Patrons	50
Committee on a National University	500
Committee on Problems of High-School Libraries	50
Committee on Visual Instruction	30

We also recommend that a Committee on Elementary-School English be named to act jointly with a similar committee appointed by the National Council of Teachers of English, and that for the use of this joint committee an appropriation of $150 be made.

We also recommend that the request of the National Council of Education, that a Committee on Rural Education be named, should be granted, and that an appropriation of $1000 be made for its work.

We also recommend that an appropriation of $2000 be made for expenses incurred by the Committee on Organization.

We also recommend that the unpaid bills amounting to $950, of the Committee on Grammatical Nomenclature, which completed its work in 1913, be paid.

In making these appropriations, your committee recommends that authority be given the Executive Committee for next year to assume temporary responsibility in deciding which expenditures are most important in the work of these various committees and also which expenditures shall be first authorized, if, in any case, it shall be impracticable for all such expenditures to be allowed.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Perhaps a few words of explanation might be added to the formal report of the committee. During the last four years the Association has spent more money for educational investigations than in its entire history prior to that time. The appropriations named in this report total $9355, which is the largest amount named in any single year.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You have heard the report of the Executive Committee.

ANDREW S. EDSON, of New York: Mr. President, I would like to offer an amendment.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: There should be a motion for the adoption first.

A MEMBER: I move the adoption of the report.

The motion was recorded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: It is moved and seconded that the report of the Executive Committee be adopted. Mr. Edson is now in order.

MR. EDSON: I find at the last moment that by some oversight no request was made for an appropriation for the expenses of a committee, appointed by the president of the Department of Superintendence, at Detroit. In talking with the Board of Directors just now, they say that the natural way now would be to have the president of the Association approve the committee that was appointed by President Shoop, and that the appropriation be allowed, if agreeable to the body here, in accordance with the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the National Education Association be requested to approve the Committee on Military Training appointed by the president of the Department of Superintendence, at Detroit, and that an appropriation of $500 be made to defray the expenses of this committee, subject to the same conditions as are other appropriations.

A MEMBER: I second the amendment to the report.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the motion to amend. That motion is seconded. It is open for discussion.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: We will take a vote on the amendment first. All in favor of the amendment will say "Aye," all opposed "No." It seems to me that the ayes have it. Unless a division is called for, it will be so ordered.

A MEMBER: Division is called for.

A MEMBER: Won't you please state once more what the amendment is?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: I will ask the Secretary to read the amendment.

This was done.

M. P. GROSZMANN, of New Jersey: What is the distinct purpose of the committee?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Can Mr. Edson state the purpose of the committee, as asked for?

MR. EDSON: I had no part in proposing this at Detroit. Superintendent Kendall, of New Jersey, prepared the resolution and offered it there. He is the one who this morning called my attention to the fact that we had no appropriation. I grant we are a little late in getting before the committee. It ought to have been done before. I do not know whose fault it was, but as I understand it President Shoop has appointed a committee and they are expected to make an investigation in the year to come with reference to the general consideration of military training, the advisability of having it in our own schools. Of course there will be some expenses entailed, not heavy, but at the same time it seemed to the committee that we ought to be allowed something to pay the necessary expenses.

AGNES E. DOHERTY, of Minnesota: As a matter of information, I should like to ask about the personnel of that committee. Is its membership composed exclusively of superintendents?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: I will ask Mr. Shoop to reply to that.

JOHN D. SHOOP, of Illinois: It is listed and in the hands of the Secretary of the National Education Association.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The Secretary will read the names of the committee as appointed by the president of the Department of Superintendence.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Superintendent Henry Snyder, Jersey City, chairman; Superintendent William Davidson, Pittsburgh; Superintendent J. G. Collicott, Indianapolis; Superintendent Franklin B. Dyer, Boston; Superintendent J. M. Gwinn, New Orleans; Superintendent Frank B. Cooper, Seattle; President Edmund J. James, University of Illinois, Champaign; Superintendent Charles S. Meek, San Antonio; Associate Superintendent Andrew S. Edson, New York; and Fannie Fern Andrews, Secretary, American School Peace League, Boston.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Those are the members of this committee, as appointed by the president of the Department of Superintendence. The motion is made, as an amendment to the motion to adopt the report of the Executive Committee, to allow this committee $500 for their work.

J. M. CATTELL, of New York: I move as an amendment that the money be appropriated in case the committee consists of an equal number of men and women.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Mr. Chairman, the suggestion has been made that it should be stated that in these appropriations which have been authorized by the Executive Committee, none of the money is spent for the traveling expenses of the committee. These appropriations take care of printing, postage, clerical hire, and matters of that sort, but no junkets.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: I hear no second to the last motion.

A MEMBER: I second it.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The amendment to the amendment is that this appropriation be made provided the committee is composed of an equal number of men and women.

A MEMBER: Is that amendment in order? Has not the committee already been named?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The committee has been named by the president of the Department of Superintendence, and was named last winter. I do not know how that committee can be changed.

MR. CATTELL: The committee can be enlarged. They can appoint an equal number of women on the committee.

A MEMBER: Is it proper to make an amendment after a vote has been taken? All that has been demanded is a division, a count of the vote that has already been taken. I rise to a point of order. It is too late for an amendment.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The point of order is well taken. All in favor of the motion to appropriate $500 to this committee will indicate it by rising, and remain standing until they are counted. Be seated. All opposed will indicate it in the same way. The amendment is carried.

Now the motion as amended comes before the house. All in favor of the adoption of the report of the Executive Committee, as amended, say "Aye," all opposed "No."

The report of the committee, as amended, is adopted.

The next order of business is the report of the Board of Trustees.

CARROLL G. PEARSE, of Wisconsin: The report of the Trustees is in print. I think it is in the hands of each of you. The only thing it is worth while to say in connection with it is that the permanent Fund now amounts, on the par value of the securities held, to $190,000; the book value of the bonds and other securities, making up that Fund, is $188,500.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the report of the Board of Trustees, thru the chairman. What shall be done with it?

A MEMBER: I move its adoption.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Any discussion? All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," all opposed "No." The motion is carried.

Our next order of business is the report of the Treasurer.

GRACE M. SHEPHERD, of Idaho: I wish to call your attention to the summary in the report which you have. You will notice the amount on hand last year, the total receipts for the year, the total expense, and the balance of $5,371.88. There are outstanding bills of about a thousand dollars and a net balance of over four thousand dollars. I wish to call your attention to the excess over what was on hand last year, and then remind you that the year before that we had a balance of $148 only.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the report. What shall be done with it?

A MEMBER: I move its adoption.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of the adoption of the report of the Treasurer will indicate it by saying "Aye," all opposed "No." The report is adopted.

The next order of business is the report of the Auditing Committee.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The report of the Auditing Committee is as follows:

We, the undersigned, have examined the report on the examination of accounts for the period from July 1, 1915, to June 30, 1916, as made by Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Co., and recommend that it be accepted.

ROBERT H. WRIGHT, North Carolina
MARY C. C. BRADFORD, Colorado

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the report of the Auditing Committee.

A MEMBER: I move its adoption.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of the motion to adopt the report of the Auditing Committee will say "Aye," those opposed "No." The motion is carried, and the report of the Auditing Committee is adopted.

The next order of business is the report of the Committee on Resolutions, to be presented by the chairman, W. B. Owen.

W. B. OWEN, of Illinois: In submitting this brief series of resolutions, I should suggest, inasmuch as there is no logical nor organic connection between the different resolutions, that the chairman of the committee be permitted to read one at a time, and that the Association take action on each resolution as it is read.

Resolved, That the National Education Association expresses its appreciation of the measures taken by the Committee of Arrangements to insure the success of this meeting. The large advance enrolment, the greatest in the history of the Association, the provision of satisfactory rooms for holding the various meetings of departments, the organization of information for the visiting members, the courteous welcome and generous hospitality of officials, teachers, and citizens of all classes, and the reliable and informing reports of the public meetings appearing in the public press insure that the New York meeting of 1916 will be remembered as worthy of the metropolis of the nation and as setting a new standard for future meetings.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

A MEMBER: I move that this be a rising vote.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that resolution will indicate it by rising. Be seated. All opposed indicate by rising. It is unanimously adopted.

MR. OWEN:

Resolved, That the President of this Association be authorized to name a committee of active members, of which committee the President of the Association shall be a member, to request the President of the United States to appoint a commission to investigate and report upon the condition of the woman on the farm and of the rural home of the United States.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that resolution say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

MR. OWEN:

Resolved, That the National Education Association indorses the cooperative movement for the promotion of citizenship education inaugurated by the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Labor.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

MR. OWEN:

Resolved, That the National Education Association urges upon the Congress of the United States the appropriation of fifty thousand dollars to be administered thru the United States Bureau of Education for the purpose of disseminating information as to the methods, standards, and established practices in the education of immigrants, and in stimulating the extension of the necessary educational facilities looking to the Americanization of the foreign-born or alien residents of this country.

I move the adoption of that resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The motion is made and seconded to adopt that resolution. All in favor will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

Resolved, That the National Education Association again declares its belief in equal suffrage for men and women and urges upon its members the support of such measures as will hasten the consummation of this end.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

MR. OWEN:

Resolved, That the National Education Association calls the attention of the American people to the fact that teaching is a profession demanding for its successful practice a technical training that will put the teacher in possession of professional standards; that these professional standards can be maintained only by the employment of superintendents, supervisors, and teachers who have unquestioned professional qualifications for their work; that the members of the teaching professions can have and serve but one client, the public; that the public, therefore, owes a duty to itself, and the members of the profession to see to it that only professional considerations enter into the employment, retention, and dismissal of teachers. The Association believes that the public can elevate and strengthen the professional status of teachers and thereby serve itself by securing legislation that shall embody the following provisions:

1. The powers and duties of superintendents of schools should receive definition by legislative enactment. Definite professional qualifications should be required of all appointees to office. The term of the superintendent of schools should be not less than three years; the power of nominating all teachers and members of the educational staff should be given to the superintendent.

2. The tenure of office of teachers should, after a probationary period, be permanent. Removal should be possible only for inefficiency, immorality, or grievous neglect of duty. Salaries should be fixed so as to insure to teachers a standard of living in keeping with the professional demands made upon them. Retiring allowances or pensions should be provided either by state, or by local action.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that resolution say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

MR. OWEN:

Resolved, That the National Education Association gives expression again to the consciousness that the school is an institution developed by society to conserve the well-being of humanity, and that on this solid foundation all subordinate aims and uses of the school should be made to rest. Assembled as it is in a time of world-wide disturbance, doubt, and uncertainty, and of consequent national concern, the Association affirms its unswerving adherence to the unchanging principles of justice between persons and between nations; it affirms its belief that the instruction in the school should tend to furnish the mind with the knowledge of the arts and sciences on which the prosperity of the nations rests and to incline the will of men and nations toward acts of peace; it declares its devotion to America and American ideals and recognizes the priority of the claims of our beloved country on our property, our minds, our hearts, and our lives. It records its conviction that the true policy to be followed, both by the school and by the nation which it serves, is to keep the American public school free from sectarian interference, partisan politics, and disputed public policies, that it may remain unimpaired in its power to serve the whole people. While it recognizes that the community, or the state, may introduce such elements of military training into the schools as may seem wise and prudent, yet it believes that such training should be strictly educational in its aim and organization, and that military ends should not be permitted to pervert the educational purposes and practices of the school.

I move the adoption of this resolution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The motion is made and seconded to adopt the resolution.

MR. CATTELL: I wish to offer an amendment to the resolution, that the latter part of the resolution, the part beginning: "It declares its devotion to our beloved country, etc.," be omitted.

If I were an orator, or if I even had a voice like Mr. Bryan, I am quite sure you would adopt the suggestion I am about to make. It is simply that we omit the latter part of this resolution, which states nothing but what is true, that we are ready to sacrifice our lives to our country, and that we acknowledge the right of the legislature of the states to impose military training on the schools; but why should we say these things?

We might also add that we know it to be our duty to kill Mexicans if we get into a war with Mexico, but we do not need to emphasize that fact; so with the case of the military training in the schools, it is the part of the teachers in the schools to decide what shall be taught in the schools, subject only to the larger public opinion outside the schools.

If we say that the state shall impose what we shall teach, we shall get things like happened in New York where the legislature has imposed a law on this state which is disapproved of by practically every teacher in the state.

This law says that all school boys, only school boys, not people who work, but school boys between the ages of sixteen and nineteen, must go to camps in the summer to learn to shoot, to get real military training, real military drill. These camps are to be held at the state fairs.

From my point of view, these camps are simply institutions for the promotion of war, drunkenness, and prostitution, but I don't think we should put that in our resolution here.

Why should we put the other thing in, which will be quoted by everybody here in New York State who favors this law, as indorsing it?

Why not simply omit all reference to the matter and stand on the resolutions we have already past?

I hold in my hand the resolution adopted by this Association last year, which was the exact opposite of this. It was an extremely pacifist resolution, a resolution stating my own doctrine, but not the kind of thing which I think the Association should adopt, because it consists of people of very various views. We did adopt it unanimously, however, last year. This is the resolution we adopted last year:

The Association deploras any attempt to militarize this country. It again declares against the establishment of compulsory military training in the schools, on the ground that it is reactionary and inconsistent with American ideals and standards.

That we adopted last year. Now the opposite views are proposed, because we have another committee with a gentleman as chairman who believes in these things, and very properly, because I admire his military spirit both in the committee and thruout the country, but I do not think we should follow it as the committee did.

The committee consisted of fourteen members including not a single woman. Four-fifths of the teachers of this country are women, and a group of men, superintendents and presidents, come together and pass a resolution in which these women do not believe. Why should we adopt it? Isn't it simpler; if we cannot agree on a good resolution, to drop the whole matter?

I therefore move as an amendment that that part of the resolution beginning: "It declares its devotion to America," be omitted.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the motion. It is the middle of the tenth line, the last resolution. The motion is made to drop that part of the resolution beginning, "It declares its devotion to America and American ideals." The motion is seconded.

MR. OWEN: I should like at this time to make clear the position of the committee and not to debate, primarily, the interpretation which has been placed, and falsely placed, on this resolution, by the last speaker.

I am not in favor of entering into a personal discussion here. I think I can, however, raise a question of personal privilege, inasmuch as the speaker has referred to me. He has frankly told you that he is definitely a pacifist, and he has, by implication, said that I am definitely in favor of military training in the schools.

I am in favor of compulsory military training for every man in America. But if this resolution, drafted after three days of careful debate, says anything, it says that the meeting of the National Education Association is not the place to decide that policy. This resolution in no way points that way. But all the discussion of the preceding speaker was on material extraneous to this resolution.

Why doesn't he get up and discuss the resolution instead of presenting his views and the views that were expressed in a resolution past last year after the Association, in a business meeting of this sort, had adjourned.

Now, what the committee tried to do was to neglect, and overlook, and pay no attention whatsoever to the local situation, to the New York State laws, to the newspapers of New York City, but to think out carefully an educational statement that would embody an educational position that this Association could adopt, and so I am asking you to read it. You are all intelligent, as the preceding speaker is. Read this resolution, and if it says what he says, vote for his amendment; if it does not say what he says, and says what you believe, reject that amendment.

A. E. WINSHIP, of Massachusetts: I think we ought to understand distinctly that the resolution of last year was never past upon by the National Education Association, but was reported as progress—and was not read—and that some several months afterwards the resolutions were presented by the committee to the Secretary and put in print.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: They were read and acted on.

MR. WINSHIP: Were they?

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Yes, sir.

MR. WINSHIP: I thought not. Excuse me.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: They were not read at the business meeting.

MR. WINSHIP: That is what I meant.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: But they were read at the last meeting, which was at the end of the second week, and adopted at that time.

MR. WINSHIP: I knew they were not read at the business meeting. That is what I meant.

MR. OWEN: This committee, every member of it, I think, is radically opposed to military training as such in the schools. We spent many times as much time on that last paragraph as on all the rest of the report. As one who does not believe in military training in the schools, but who distinctly feels that this Association ought to put itself on record, from the educational standpoint, which I think the resolution does, I gave hours to the discussion of this report. It was never for one moment suggested in the committee by any of us that we wanted, in the most indirect way, to favor militarism. I hope this Association will adopt this report as it is offered by the committee. I think that unless there is some more definite objection against it than has been spoken of, you owe it to yourselves to go on record definitely for the educational side of this whole proposition.

WILLIAM G. WILLCOX, of New York: A local Fourth of July orator extolled the Goddess of Liberty as with "one foot firmly planted on the Rock of Ages and the other pointing to the stars."

Without suggesting exactly that posture, let me say that there is no profession in which it is more important than in the educational profession to "hitch your wagon to a star," and there is no profession in which it is more important to keep your feet on the earth.

There is no profession in which it is more important to keep before yourselves, before the community, and before your pupils the highest ideals of character and of citizenship, and there is no profession in which it is more important to use practical common-sense in meeting conditions as they are.

I yield to no one in my abhorrence of war. I yield to no one in my anxiety to cooperate in every possible way to promote international peace and international law and order and justice, but if we have the courage to face conditions as they are, we must know and we must recognize that so long as the spirit of war prevails on earth, this country is not free from that danger.

We in New York City employ a great fire department and have expensive water mains to protect this city against the danger of such a conflagration as devastated San Francisco.

There is more danger today of an aggressive military attack upon this country than there is of such a conflagration in New York City.

We employ a great quarantine department to protect this country against the danger of a devastating plague, from infection. There is more danger today that this country will suffer from military aggression than there is that this country will be devastated by a plague brought in from foreign shores, and if we are to protect this city against such a conflagration, if we are to protect this city against infection from abroad, we certainly must be equally prepared to protect our country from the danger, however slight you may consider it, that our democratic principles and our democratic institutions will be invaded by this horrible military aggression.

Now, in a time, ladies and gentlemen, when this country is stirred as never before by a demand for preparedness, by the demand that our democratic principles and institutions, for which our fathers fought and bled and died, shall not be endangered by military aggression from abroad, the question comes before us in your schools: Can you do anything to help protect our country against this great danger? And I say, ladies and gentlemen, it is not a time for the schools of New York and for the schools of the country to return any obstructive, any negative, nor any evasive answer to that question.

I say it is a time for the schools and for us, as educational and professional people, to consider what we can do, what we can properly do, what we can wisely do in the interests of the schools and the children, to cooperate with the great movement to protect our country and its institutions in time of war.

Let us see what we can do, and not what we cannot do. Let us see how far we can go, how far we can wisely go to cooperate in this great effort.

We all agree that adequate physical training is a first essential. We can certainly go as far as that.

We all agree that training in respect of law and order and proper obedience to constituted authority should be taught in the schools. We can go as far as that. We all agree that some training in organized effort, some training in cooperation is a wise and desirable thing for our public schools. We can all agree upon that.

I do not defend military training, altho I am not so much opposed to it—I do not know that mere target practice makes people want to murder each other. It never had that effect on me. I do not know that shooting a gun at a target endangers the morals of the children any more than shooting a basket-ball at a basket.

However, I am not talking about the exact form which the training should take, but I am talking about the attitude of our public schools toward this great effort to protect our country, to teach citizenship to our children, and to prepare them for the highest duties of citizenship in time of peace or in time of war, and I say that on that issue our schools should speak with no uncertain tone.

AGNES E. HOWE, of California: I yield to no one in asking that the schools teach the things that, in the main, this last gentleman has spoken of, but I do say that it seems cowardly to me to put the whole burden of patriotism and of the defending of our country upon the children of this country.

If you please, let every man and every woman, too, at the age of eighteen be trained for military service, but do not put the burden of training for military service upon the children of the grades and thru the high school.

To me it seems as it was in England when Mrs. Browning wrote her great poem on "The Cry of the Children." The children of England at that time were bearing the burden of the industrial life of England.

Today it seems as tho we were trying to make the children of America bear the burden of the military protection of this country.

MARY M. GALT, of Virginia: The gentleman who proposed the amendment mentioned as an objection to it that no women had taken part in the framing of this amendment, and by implication said that women were not in favor of any measure of protection or military preparedness.

As a woman and a teacher and an American citizen, may I protest before this assemblage of teachers against this view? There is very little, when it comes to fighting, that we can do. To be sure, in times of peace, the women can get along pretty well without the men, but they are rather useful when it comes to times of war, and I for one thank God that there are men to protect the American women when the times comes, but I do not wish the American men to go unprepared into conflict.

I do not want conflict. I am as much of a pacifist as anyone when it comes to wanting peace. It is just a question of the means of securing peace.

There are three questions people should consider: Do we need any preparedness at all, or is war impossible in our enlightened age, or is America magically protected against war? If we do need any protection, how are we going to get it? Can we do it in a minute or not?

Now when we say that children should be prepared, we do not mean that the children should go out and fight, but that when those children are grown men they will know how, so that there may be the least amount of death and suffering and distress if they are ever called upon to fight for their country. The men who have left New York within the last few days to go to the Mexican border are going thru all sorts of hard training. They are suffering. Their feet are aching. Their muscles are sore. Why? Because they were not trained young enough.

We hear that a thousand men would spring up in a night, and so they would. I am not impugning the valor of the American men at all, but there is something more needed than valor. Let us not, therefore, put ourselves on record against any measure of preparedness. Let us rather make ourselves so strong that we will never be called upon to fight at all.

KATHERINE D. BLAKE, of New York: It is a question whether you believe in the higher patriotism or the lower patriotism, to my mind. I yield to no one in my love of my country. I yield to no one in my willingness to give up my life, but I want to give it for constructive effort, not for destructive effort. We have in our hands the children of the future. They are going to be the men and women who will make this country. Let us train them toward truth and clear vision. Everyone's eyes are obscured by the things that they read in the papers. When you see in your paper that the French "win the trenches," when you see the language of the sporting world transferred over to war, you sort of look upon it as a game, and that is what every child in America is reading in our newspapers. We people who are making the constructive work of tomorrow must look deeper than the headlines. Look down until you see what you mean when you say, "The French win the trenches"—that you mean a thousand men killed, a thousand widows, a thousand children fatherless; that you mean two thousand maimed or perhaps ten thousand—and let the picture of the gore and the horror and the uncivilized condition be before the children.

I cannot speak tamely of the wave of militarism that has gone over this country by paid millionaire-munition men who have the money to spread those things. Why, they actually allow Mr. Maxim to debate on the peace platform. Why doesn't the W.C.T.U. invite Duffy of Pure Malt Whiskey to come and tell how important it is to be prepared with a barrel of whiskey in your cellar? It is about as good. But, friends, I am afraid I cannot say what I ought to say here. I feel so intensely on this subject. Let us honor the heroes of war of the past, but not of the future. Let us honor the heroes of peace that today are going down to their death that we may be comfortable.

Why, friends, there are two opinions in this organization today. Some of us are intense pacifists, like myself. Some of us are intense militarists, like my superior officer. Why bring anything into this organization to spoil its harmony? Let Mr. Cattell change this motion so that only the last sentence be left out. Let us keep our ideals, our American ideals. Let us stand for everything that is uplifting and ennobling. Every one of us ought to be willing to face death if it will bring good to the country, but not if it will bring destruction, and remember, the allied and central powers are bringing destruction upon their own homes.

Will you accept that change, Mr. Cattell, the last sentence only to be stricken out, because we are divided on that? Let us have harmony. Let us leave all question of military training out until we can see more clearly than we do today. Will you take that, Mr. Cattell?

MR. CATTELL: I will accept that, namely to omit the last sentence only.

MISS BLAKE: Change your motion then that way. Leave the last sentence alone out. Please, friends, in the interests of harmony, accept that amendment. Don't send our pacifists home unhappy. Do not send the militarists home unhappy. Let us all go home happy and loving each other.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Then the motion is to omit the last sentence beginning "While it recognizes."

SECRETARY SPRINGER: In justice to all parties I must read a telegram bearing on this matter, which has just come to the Association from Ardmore, Pa.: "We urge you to vote against military education in schools and colleges. Stand by the resolution of last year.—Main Line Branch of the Women's Peace Party."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The chairman of the committee has a word to say before the vote is taken.

MR. OWEN: I have rather anticipated that the debate would continue on extraneous matters.

I am just as much of a pacifist as Miss Blake, and I hate war as much as Miss Blake hates war. I have spent twenty-five years of my life dealing with young children, and I deplore that any one of those should lose his life. Nothing that could be said or that has been said would I fail to indorse as to the ugliness of war. All of us do indorse it. But that is not the question. We have not proposed to this Association that it adopt a resolution favoring or opposing war. Yet the people who want to amend this resolution are bound to have us take action on that question. This is not a proposal to keep us from taking action. It is a proposal to make us take action in the dark. Whatever you do with this amendment—either vote it up or vote it down—do so with an appreciation of what it says. Let us read that last sentence toward which the whole paragraph or resolution is constructed. It is simply this: "While it recognizes that the community or the state may introduce such elements of military training"—notice the phrase "elements of military training"—the elements of a thing are not the thing until they are put together to make the thing, and the elements of military training are not military training until they are combined with the purpose to carry on military training—"may introduce such elements of military training into the schools as may seem wise and prudent, yet it believes that such training"—this is educational doctrine, it is sound and everyone here knows it is sound, and why should we hedge and go away from it? Haven't we the power to formulate an educational doctrine and stand by it? Or do we have to run away every time somebody says, "You will divide us," or you will do this, that, or the other thing. Listen to this educational doctrine. Isn't it sound? Let Mr. Cattell and Miss Blake get up and debate the real question instead of bringing in the extraneous issues of New York school affairs, or the pacifist movement or something else. Let them talk to the question, and the question is clear. "Yet it believes that such training should be strictly educational in its aim and organization"—and that will make it educational—"and that military ends should not be permitted to pervert the educational purposes and practices of the school." That is sound doctrine.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The question is called for. The question is upon the amendment that the last clause beginning "While it recognizes" be stricken out. All in favor of that amendment will say "Aye," all opposed "No." The amendment is lost.

I will put the question upon the original motion to adopt the resolution as originally presented. All in favor of that motion will indicate it by saying "Aye," all opposed "No." If anyone desires a division, we will have it, but it is overwhelmingly carried. The motion is carried.

The next order of business is Unfinished Business.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: At the 1913 meeting, the following notice was given: "Until further otherwise voted, the spelling in the printing and correspondence of the National Education Association shall conform with the recommendation in the Simplified Spelling Board Circular No. 23."

That was laid on the table for one year. The next year, by vote, the question was raised and laid on the table again. At last year's meeting the question was still further raised in the report of the committee, but owing to the absence of the author no action was taken. The matter is now before you, having been left from last year's proceedings.

JOHN R. KIRK, of Missouri: I desire to offer the following as a substitute for that resolution which is before us:

Resolved, That this Association use in its publications the spelling t in the past tenses of English verbs ending in ed, pronounst t, where the change will not suggest a wrong pronunciation.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The motion is seconded. Is there any discussion? All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." It appears to the Chair that the ayes have it, and it is so ordered.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: There is left over from last year the following request for a department:

We, the undersigned, active members of the National Education Association, hereby petition for the organization of a department for the promotion of the wider use of school-houses in the civic education of adults and such other activities as belong to community centers.

This petition was duly signed, and under the by-laws has been on the table for one year, ready for your action today.

A MEMBER: I move its adoption.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: It is moved that this petition be granted. All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: There was another resolution presented a year ago:

Resolved, That we believe that the right to vote in the various departments of the Association should be limited to those whose work is of the character indicated by the name of the Department, and would suggest that the by-laws of the Association be amended so as to secure such limitation.

That being before you for the year which is required, the wording would be that an amendment be made to Section 6 of Article I. Section 6 of Article I now reads:

The right to vote and to hold office in the Association or the departments is open to all active members whose dues are paid.

This would read:

Every active member of the Association whose dues are paid may vote and hold office in the Association and in the department indicated in the annual data slip.

For the last two or three years there have been requests from time to time on the part of departmental presidents in making up their programs, asking for the names of members of the Association who are especially interested in particular departments. This would provide for the addition of one item on our data slip. It would allow the voting in the departments to be restricted to the department indicated by the member instead of in any of the departments as it now is. That is before you for adoption or rejection.

ARTHUR H. CHAMBERLAIN, of California: We now have a committee at work on organization. I suggest that this matter be laid on the table for a year.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: There is one other matter left over from last year which relates to an amendment to Article V, Section 9, authorizing the appointment of councils in the several departments. I do not think it will be necessary to read that, if you will permit the suggestion that the same action be taken with reference to it as with reference to the other, because it relates to a matter that the Committee on Organization might better take up.

A MEMBER: I make such a motion.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried, and that matter is tabled, to be considered by the Committee on Organization.

SECRETARY SPRINGER:

To the Active Members of the National Education Association: As Chairman of your Committee on Salaries, Tenure, and Pensions, I wish to recommend to you that the President of the Association be authorized to add members to the committee from the active members of the Association, both to insure a quorum and to add strength to this important committee.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH SWAIN

Chairman of the Committee on Salaries, Tenure, and Pensions

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You hear the request. What shall be done with it?

A MEMBER: I move it be granted.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion will say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: A communication from the Executive Committee, which needs only to be read and not acted upon:

Notice is hereby given that one year from now the proposal will be made to amend Section 3 of Article III, changing the date of the fiscal year from June 30 to May 31.

Two petitions have been received as follows:

To the National Educational Association:

We, the undersigned, active members of the National Education Association, desire to petition the Executive Committee that the Conference of Deans of Women be incorporated as a department of the National Education Association.

To the National Education Association:

We, the undersigned, feel that the solution of the penmanship problem in the schools—the elementary, the secondary, and teacher-training—will be greatly simplified by the cooperation of the National Education Association. Therefore we respectfully petition that a department be created to that end, said department to have the same rights and privileges as those already in existence. Further, we suggest that this be known as the Department of Penmanship. The aim of this section shall be to work out the psychology, the pedagogy, and the practical methods of penmanship.

These petitions must wait a year before being considered.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: If there is no further unfinished or miscellaneous business, the next order is the report of the Committee on Nominations. Mr. Joyner, the chairman of the committee, will make the report for the committee.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: We hear that request, and it will be acted upon.

A MEMBER: I see that there is no nomination from Florida.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: I was going to make this announcement following this action. Nominations for directors were made only from the states that were represented in the Committee. Any states that were not represented at the meeting yesterday, which desire representation, should have their representative present at the Board of Directors' meeting tomorrow morning at 9:30, for the Board of Directors has power to fill vacancies.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Just keep that in mind. Then, if there are no further nominations, the nominations are closed. What shall be done with this report?

A MEMBER: I move its adoption and that the Secretary cast the ballot for the persons named.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion say "Aye," opposed "No." The motion is carried; the report of the committee is adopted.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The ballot is cast.

The report of the Committee on Organization.

MR. OWEN: I have just one sentence to report. The Committee on Organization appointed at Oakland in 1915 reports that the work of the committee is in progress; that the general plan of organization to be submitted to the Association has been outlined, and that this plan involves an amount of preliminary investigation, discussion, and consequent correspondence, so that it could not be completed for a final report at this meeting; that anything short of a final report might lead to misinterpretation; that the printed report will be ready for distribution to the members in advance of the meeting of 1917. I ask for no action on that report.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: No action is necessary on that. A motion to adjourn is in order.

A MEMBER: I move we adjourn.

The motion was seconded.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: All in favor of that motion say "Aye," those opposed "No." The meeting stands adjourned.

DIRECTOR CARROLL G. PEARSE, of Wisconsin: I move that the resignations be accepted and the persons suggested named to fill the vacancies.

Motion seconded and carried.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: I have resignations from three other directors which are to be presented if representatives are present from those states: Wyoming, Texas, and the Philippines.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: Is any one present from the states named? It seems not.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: A quorum is present, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: As a quorum of the Board of Directors is present, we shall proceed. Will the Secretary please read the order of business?

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The first in order would be the reports of the President and Secretary. If we follow precedent, we shall omit the reading of these reports as they relate merely to routine matters.

It was moved, seconded, and carried that this be done.

President, National Education Association

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The next is the report of the Board of Trustees.

DIRECTOR PEARSE: You have the copies of the report in your hands. It speaks for itself. Attention might be called to the fact that during the year two thousand dollars of the cash balance was invested.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: What is to be done with the report of the Board of Trustees? Moved, seconded, and carried that the report be adopted.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The next in order is the report of the Treasurer.

TREASURER GRACE M. SHEPHERD, of Idaho: The report is in your hands. I shall not take time to read it, but I should like to call attention to the summary on the last page. The reason I wish to call attention to this particularly is because it is much better than last year and very much better than two years ago.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: You have heard the report. Is there anything to say? It was moved, seconded, and carried that the report be adopted.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Two statements might with profit be made for your consideration. If you were to compare this report with the report of last year, you would find that the expense of the Secretary's office is about five hundred dollars more than it was last year. By looking farther, however, you will find that there is a refund among the receipts from the Thrift Essay Contest of $499.13. That is the explanation of the increase expense. We carried on the work thru our office and then we were reimbursed by Mr. Straus, the donor of the prize, for the expense we had incurred. The other item is one upon which I think the Association should be congratulated. It will appear in the Secretary's report, but I will mention it at this time. During the last four years we have spent more money for the committees on educational investigation than has been spent by the Association in its entire history up to that time. We have not added to the Endowment Fund, but we have financed committees raised by the Association to a greater extent than in the entire history of the Association in the first fifty-three years of its existence.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: What is the next order of business?

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Superintendent Billingshurst, of Nevada, is not present. State Superintendent Bray suggests that Charles Priest, of Eureka, Nev., be elected director from that state.

Motion seconded and carried.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON: The President is required to appoint an auditing committee who are members of the Association but not members of the Board of Trustees, of the Board of Directors, nor of the Executive Committee. I appoint President Wright, of North Carolina; State Superintendent Bradford, of Colorado; and Associate Superintendent Straubenmüller, of New York. If there is no other business, the motion to adjourn is in order.

The motion for adjournment was made, seconded, and carried.

Approved,

DAVID B. JOHNSON, President

DURAND W. SPRINGER, Secretary

Teitrick, of Pennsylvania; J. E. Walmsley, of South Carolina; C. T. King, of South Dakota; A. W. Evans, of Texas; D. C. Jensen, of Utah; Carolina S. Woodruff, of Vermont; Elmer Cave, of Washington; M. P. Shawkey, of West Virginia; Nellie Minehan, of Wisconsin.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: There are several vacancies in the Board of Directors. Mr. Plummer, of Oregon, finding it impossible to be present, resigns in favor of L. R. Alderman. The nominating committee did not present names from a number of states. Since the meeting of the nominating committee, the following suggestions have been made concerning directors: Mr. Cunningham, who was unable to be present at the meeting of the nominating committee, suggests W. K. Dwyer as director for Montana. Frederic E. Farrington has been suggested as director from the District of Columbia. W. N. Sheats has been suggested as director for Florida. A. Montoya has been suggested as director for New Mexico, and J. R. Lowry as director for Tennessee. No suggestion has been received concerning Georgia. M. L. Britain, state superintendent of education, was director from that state last year. No suggestion was received for Louisiana. Thomas H. Harris was director last year. No suggestion has been made for Wyoming. C. A. Duniway, president, University of Wyoming, was director for last year. No suggestion has been made from Alaska, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, nor Porto Rico. They were represented last year by L. D. Henderson, Vaughan MacCaughey, Frank L. Crone, and Ralph S. Garwood.

DIRECTOR CARROLL G. PEARSE, of Wisconsin, suggested the name of S. S. Murphy, superintendent of schools, Mobile, Ala., as director for Alabama.

It was moved, seconded, and carried that the persons named be elected directors for the coming year.

F. E. Farrington, W. N. Sheats, A. Montoya, J. R. Lowry, Ralph Garwood, and L. R. Alderman were present.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The next matter of business is a report of the committee with regard to vacancies in membership in the Council. The members of the committee are James Y. Joyner, Carroll G. Pearse, and Nathan D. Schaeffer.

DIRECTOR JAMES Y. JOYNER, of North Carolina: Your committee appointed to suggest members to fill vacancies existing by expiration of term or otherwise desire to recommend as follows:

That all members whose term expire in 1916 be re-elected for another term;

That Harold W. Foght, of District of Columbia, be elected to succeed Ednah A. Rich, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who withdraws from the profession of teaching. The term will expire in 1920;

That the committee making this report be authorized to fill vacancies which may be found to exist at this time, which vacancies are not reported here. Mr. Owen left last night and his records are not available for consultation and your committee cannot obtain information as to further vacancies.

PRESIDENT ALEY: What is to be done with this report?

It was moved, seconded, and carried that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The next in order is the election of a trustee to succeed James V. Joyner, whose term expires.

DIRECTOR DAVID B. JOHNSON, of South Carolina: I wish to nominate Mr. Joyner to succeed himself. Our section of the country would like to have Mr. Joyner represent the South on the Board of Trustees.

Seconded and carried.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The election of a trustee to the presidency of the Association creates another vacancy on the Board. It is not necessary for your presiding officer to hand in his resignation. The election to the presidency creates the vacancy.

DIRECTOR F. M. HUNTER, of Nebraska: On behalf of the great West, I wish to nominate W. R. Siders, of Idaho, for trustee.

DIRECTOR R. O. STROOPS, of Illinois: I wish to nominate John D. Shoop, of Illinois, for trustee. He is well known and capable of representing the middle western states on the Board of Trustees.

Both nominations were seconded.

The result of the ballot was as follows: Siders, 31; Shoop, 16. It was moved, seconded, and carried that the vote be made unanimous.

DIRECTOR ROBERT J. FULLER, of Massachusetts: The Commission on Reorganization of Secondary Education requests that the name of that commission be changed to "Commission on Secondary Education." The commission prefers a shorter title. As it is soon to publish its findings, it is important that the matter be taken up at this meeting.

DIRECTOR PEARSE: President Johnson was at the meeting of the Executive Committee when the matter was discuss. Perhaps he may have some information on that matter.

DIRECTOR JOHNSON: The matter did come before the Executive Committee and was considered. A great deal of work has been done under the old name, and it was thought best that the old name be adhered to, for the reason that, if it were changed at this time, confusion would be sure to arise.

DIRECTOR MILO H. STUART, of Indiana: No report has been issued in permanent form. Two have been authorized, but they have not come from the press. The Bureau of Education at Washington has agreed to print a number of reports, but there is still time to make the change.

DIRECTOR PEARSE: All the other investigating committees are working under the title of committee.

DIRECTOR FULLER: The Executive Committee authorized the use of the word "Commission." The commission has been careful to use the name authorized by the Board of Directors and Executive Committee.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The question is to change the title from "Commission on Reorganization of Secondary Education" to "Commission on Secondary Education."

A vote was taken resulting as follows: 22 in favor; 24 against.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The next in order is the election of a member of the Executive Committee.

DIRECTOR PEARSE: I wish to nominate Mr. Cook to succeed himself.

DIRECTOR REED B. TEITRICK, of Pennsylvania: I wish to nominate Mr. Keeler, of Michigan.

Mr. Keeler withdrew, and it was seconded and carried that Mr. Cook be elected to succeed himself.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The next in order is the selection of a place of meeting for next year.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: During the year, the Secretary's office has received invitations from the following places for the 1917 meeting: Asbury Park, Atlantic City, Baltimore, Chautauqua, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, and Portland, Ore. Indianapolis had expected to invite the Association, but they secured another educational meeting for next year, and decided that they did not want two conventions of the same kind in the same year. We will have the invitations presented in alphabetical order.

It was moved, seconded, and carried that each place be given five minutes for the presentation.

At this time, C. E. F. Hetrick, mayor of Asbury Park, and J. L. Kinmouth presented the invitation from that city. No representative was present from Atlantic City nor Baltimore. Secretary Springer read a letter from Chautauqua. Thomas Quinlan, manager, convention and publicity department of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce presented the invitation from Cincinnati. There was no representative present from Philadelphia. L. R. Alderman presented Portland's invitation. Various directors supported Asbury Park and Portland.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: It is understood that the vote of this body amounts to a recommendation to the Executive Committee. The final decision must be made by them after all matters of arrangements have been looked into.

The vote resulted as follows: Asbury Park, 25; Portland, 18; Cincinnati, 2; Milwaukee, 1.

PRESIDENT ALEY: The next matter of business is the report of the Executive Committee. The Secretary will read it.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Do you wish to have it read? It is the report that was read yesterday in the annual meeting and past with one additional item.

PRESIDENT ALEY: What is your wish?

It was moved, seconded, and carried that the report be adopted.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Last year there was presented to the Board of Directors a request for the establishment of an Educational Publishers' Department. Departments may be established by the directors or the active members. This question is before you at this time for ratification or rejection. Since I received the request, it has been suggested that a better name would be "Department of Educational Publishers."

ARTHUR H. CHAMBERLAIN, of California: I would suggest that you call this department the "Department of Educational Publications."

DIRECTOR JOHNSON: I think that a good suggestion. It would be a good thing to have this department in the National Education Association. We get our publicity through the educational journals. They are the only publications that really reach the teachers of the country. The daily papers do not reach them. We must use the educational journals for the meetings of the National Education Association, and we would like very much to have them associated with us. I move that we adopt, as a department of the National Education Association, the Department of Educational Publications.

DIRECTOR ELLA FLAGG YOUNG, of Illinois: Why does not this take the same course as the others that were brought up in the meeting yesterday? It was moved then not to create more departments until after the report of the reorganization committee.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: Those were presented for the first time and must necessarily be laid on the table. This was presented last year and may be acted on at this time according to the by-laws. There is a distinction between the two cases.

The motion was seconded and carried for the establishment of the new department.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The next matter relates to the question of printing the Proceedings. Is the Board willing to place the question of printing the Proceedings in magazine and volume form in the hands of the Executive Committee? As you know, for two years now the matter has been before us for consideration. The proposition is not to abolish the printing of the volume, but to permit every active member to have a choice as to form. If both are desired, they may be provided on payment of an additional dollar. In general, the arguments in favor of the proposed change are two: If our members take the magazine, they can begin to receive the Proceedings in the first part of the school year and receive the benefit of the papers from time to time. The great argument, however, as it appears to me, is: Under our plan of meeting in different places, we secure a large local associate membership which never gets tied to the Association. Along in February—you cannot get the volume out sooner owing to the fact that these papers have to go to the authors for correction—along in February, the associate members get the Proceedings. That is in the middle of the school year, when their plans for the year's work are well developed. The result is that the volume is laid aside. If we could furnish the Proceedings in magazine form to the members, they would begin in September to get something from the Association, and, by the time the year rolled around, a number who had not attended the meeting, but who had joined the Association, would receive the benefit of the first instalment of papers, and they would read them with interest. This is an age when we are talking efficiency, and it seems to me that the present plan is highly inefficient so far as serving the interests of our body of associate members is concerned. I do not think the Board of Directors should take definite action, but I believe it would be well for the directors to authorize the Executive Committee to make this change if, in the judgment of the committee, the practical side can be demonstrated. You are giving up nothing and we simply want to see whether we can hold these people.

It was moved, seconded, and carried that the Executive Committee be given power to act in the matter of printing the Proceedings of the Association in magazine form.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: One other matter. We secure a large number of new active members at the time of the summer meeting and at the time of the meeting of the Department of Superintendence. We are desirous of securing more members thruout the year. If the directors, as they come in contact with the educators from their respective states, would assist in securing new active members, we would find that it would be a much greater help than anything that can be done at the meetings or by the Secretary alone. So far as the central office is concerned, I want to say that we are on the upgrade. In 1910, the number of new active members secured from the central office was 325; in 1911, 248; in 1912, 151; in 1913, 197; in 1914, 277; in 1915, 326. While for a few years the number of members that we had been able to get as the result of correspondence from the central office had been decreasing, beginning with the Chicago meeting in 1912, we have been increasing the number, so that this last year we secured more members thru the central office than in any other year in the history of the Association. When the Secretary writes to people, as the result of suggestions made to him, the persons address look upon it as an official presentation, whereas, if the directors in their respective states at the time of the state teachers' meeting or at the time of conferences, would speak a good word for active membership in the Association, it would mean a great deal. I want to impress upon you the necessity for doing as much of this kind of work as you possible can. The members we get at the time of the meetings are not the active members who remain longest in the Association. They are more likely to be those who are taking out memberships because of local conditions. I have gone carefully over the figures for ten years, and I find that the persons who stick are the ones who have come in between the times of meetings when there was no special local problem to consider. You can be of assistance to the National Education Association if you will do that work individually.

DIRECTOR JOHNSON: I wish to indorse what the Secretary has said. We have made a personal campaign during the past year. We cannot tell yet what the results of that campaign are, but we wrote to each director requesting him to get at least twenty-five new active members. I got letters saying that attempts would be made to get more than that number if possible. I am very much interested to know the exact results of the work.

DIRECTOR JOYNER: I move that the Secretary extend to Mr. and Mrs. Speyer our thanks for the delightful hospitality extended the officers of the Association by them.

Motion seconded and carried.

SECRETARY SPRINGER: The last matter of business relates to the question of resignations. Some directors always desire to present their resignations in favor of the persons who are to serve during the year. Are there any such?

Resignations were handed in and nominations made to fill the vacancies as follows: Charles H. Lugg, of South Dakota; O. M. Plummer, of Oregon; A. N. White, of New Mexico.

The motion was made, seconded, and carried that the resignations be accepted and that the persons named as substitutes be elected as directors for the coming year.

DIRECTOR NEIL C. MACDONALD, of North Dakota: I am very eager to see the membership increast. I would like to see North Dakota do her share. As long as the great bulk of the Proceedings relate to cities and their problems, however, it is very difficult to get the people of North Dakota interested. In that state, 75 per cent of the people are farmers, and 83 per cent of the children are enroled in rural schools. I have tried my best to interest them in the National Education Association, but they say that they can get little out of the Proceedings. If more could be done along the line of rural interests, it would be important for North Dakota and for other states.

PRESIDENT ALEY: I might say that the Executive Committee has authorized the appointment of a committee, and money has been appropriated to carry on its work. This committee will study the rural-school problem. I understand that Mr. Macdonald is a member of that committee.

DIRECTOR YOUNG: In the Council the other day, Mr. Joyner made an address on rural schools which was one of the most inspiring addresses that has ever been given before the National Education Association.

DIRECTOR MACDONALD: That is only one of six hundred.

PRESIDENT ALEY: If there is no further business, the motion to adjourn is in order. The motion to adjourn was made, seconded, and carried.

D. W. SPRINGER, Secretary

MINUTES OF THE MEETINGS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION IN CONNECTION WITH THE FIFTY-FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION IN NEW YORK CITY.

NEW YORK CITY, NOVEMBER 1 AND 2, 1915

Meetings in Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Present: David B. Johnson, President; Carroll G. Pearce, Chairman, Board of Trustees; George B. Cook, member by election; Durand W. Springer, Secretary.

The minutes of meetings for last year were read and approved.

In addition to the members of the Executive Committee, there were present at different times: Thomas E. Finegan, assistant commissioner of education for the state of New York; Andrew Edson, associate superintendent of schools, New York City; Alfred C. Thompson, president, State Teachers' Association of New York; Elmer E. Brown, chancellor, New York University, New York City; John R. Young, secretary, Convention Bureau, Merchants' Association of New York City; Dean J. C. Egbert, of Columbia University; and Secretary Upton, of Teachers College.

After listening to the representatives from New York concerning plans which they had in mind for the meeting, it was voted to hold the 1916 meeting in New York City, the week of July 3 to 8, provided that the educational forces of the city and state were unanimous in their willingness to take hold of the matter, that assurances were secured from railroad authorities that rates would be given, and that the Merchants' Association was willing to assume the financial responsibility in connection with the meeting.

Columbia University and New York University agreed to postpone the opening of their summer schools until July 10, and Mr. Finegan was requested to correspond with the directors of other summer schools in the East asking them to take similar action.

The Committee took luncheon on November 1 with Charles B. Alexander, regent of the University of the State of New York, who had assumed the active chairmanship of the local committee, at which time they met Thomas W. Churchill, president, New York Board of Education.

An inspection was made of various suggested meeting places. It was agreed that if the acoustics of the Madison Square Garden could be made satisfactory by means of a sounding board the general meetings should be held there.

Messrs. Finegan, Edson, Brown, and Young were appointed a committee to arrange for such local committees as would be needed in connection with taking care of the meeting.

The Secretary was directed to furnish to Messrs. Edson and Finegan records showing what other entertaining cities and states had done in the way of active memberships.

Matters relating to the acoustics of the Madison Square Garden and the proper contract with the Merchants' Association were left to the President and Secretary for decision.

The interest of the educational forces of the city and state was to be shown by the propositions as to advance memberships to be submitted by Messrs. Finegan and Edson.

The Secretary was instructed to confer with the railroad authorities as to rates.

It was decided to establish headquarters as follows:

Hotel Astor—New York State and New England states.

Waldorf—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and southeastern states.

McAlpin—remaining states.

A. H. Berlin was elected director for Delaware to fill a vacancy.

President Johnson was authorized to appoint a code-writer for the contest of the National Institution for Moral Instruction in case he so desired.

The appropriations for the various committees which had been made by the annual meeting at Oakland were ratified by the committee, with the understanding that the Committee on Standards and Tests was to make a final report this year.

DAVID B. JOHNSON, Chairman

D. W. Springer, Secretary

DETROIT, MICH., FEBRUARY 24, 1916

Meeting in Hotel Statler.

Present: David B. Johnson, President; Grace M. Shepherd, Treasurer; Carroll G. Pearce, Chairman, Board of Trustees; George B. Cook, member by election; Durand W. Springer, Secretary.

The general plans of the New York meeting were presented and discuss.

The Secretary presented the proposition of the Merchants' Association of New York to combine the guidebook of New York City and the program of the Association, and the Secretary was authorized to issue the program in that form, provided sufficient copies were furnished the Association for its members without cost.

The Secretary suggested the advisability of printing the index of the Proceedings which should contain all the proceedings thru the 1916 volume. Action was deferred.

The Secretary was authorized to renew the contract with the University of Chicago Press for the printing of the Proceedings on the same basis as heretofore, except in so far as the condition of the paper market would require an increase in the cost of the paper.

The Secretary was authorized to print the Proceedings of the Department of Superintendence on the same basis as last year, selling advance reprints at twenty-five cents each.

Requests for appropriations having been received since the last meeting, the Executive Committee decided that it had no power to make the same without action by the active members.

The Secretary was directed to take up with the Merchants' Association of New York City the matter of advertising thru the magazines of the Educational Press Association, suggesting that these magazines furnish the best medium for reaching the teachers in any publicity campaign which the Merchants' Association would carry on.

DAVID B. JOHNSON, Chairman

D. W. SPRINGER, Secretary

NEW YORK CITY, JULY 1, 5, AND 6, 1916

Meetings in Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Present: David B. Johnson, President; Grace M. Shepherd, Treasurer; Carroll G. Pearce, Chairman, Board of Trustees; George B. Cook, member by election; Durand W. Springer, Secretary.

The first meeting was held at ten o'clock on the morning of July 1.

The Secretary presented the various requests which had been made for appropriations for the coming year, after which a general discussion took place.

The Secretary was asked to prepare a list of the requests for new departments of the Association.

On motion of Miss Shepherd, the Secretary was directed to secure new account books for the Secretary and Treasurer.

It was agreed to recommend to the Association that the close of the fiscal year be changed from July 1 to June 1.

The second meeting was held at ten o'clock on the morning of July fifth.

The Secretary reported that suggestions for new departments had been received as follows: Deans of Women; Writing; Teachers of Public Speaking; Extension Education; Wider Use of Schoolhouses; and Educational Publishers.

James Y. Joyner was present and requested on behalf of the National Council of Education that a Committee on Rural Education be authorized.

William B. Owen was present and outlined the work which it was hoped would be done by the Committee on Organization.

Some further time was spent in discussing the proposed appropriations without definite action.

The Secretary presented the matter of issuing the Proceedings in magazine as well as in volume form and it was agreed to ask the Board of Directors to authorize the Executive Committee to carry out the suggestion if it seemed advisable.

It was decided that an index should be printed the coming year which should include the volume for 1916.

The Secretary was authorized to sell single copies of a few issues of back volumes, of which there is a surplus stock, at one dollar each.

The third meeting was held on July 6 at eleven o'clock.

It was voted to ask the United States Commissioner of Education to print the report on Sociology in Normal Schools which had been prepared by a committee of the Normal School Department.

A request was presented from the Eastern Arts Association asking that the National Education Association and the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education appoint committees on terminology to act jointly with a committee which had been appointed by them. On motion it was decided to recommend the appointment of such a committee provided an invitation was extended to the Western Drawing and Manual Training Association and the Vocational Association of the Middle West to appoint committees to act jointly with these others.

The recommendations for appropriations for the ensuing year were made as indicated in the report submitted by the Executive Committee which appears in the minutes of the annual meeting.

CONSTITUTION*

PREAMBLE

The National Council of Education shall have for its object the consideration and discussion of educational questions of general interest and public importance, and the presentation, thru printed reports, of the substance of the discussions and the conclusions formulated. It shall be its object to reach and disseminate correct thinking on educational questions; and, for this purpose, it shall be the aim of the Council, in conducting its discussions, to define and state with accuracy the different views and theories on the subject under consideration, and, secondly, to discover and represent fairly the grounds and reasons for each theory or view, so far as to show, as completely as possible, the genesis of opinion on the subject. It shall be the duty of the Council, in pursuance of this object, to encourage from all its members the most careful statement of differences in opinion, together with the completest statement of grounds for the same. It shall further require the careful preservation and presentation of the individual differences of opinion, whenever grounds have been furnished for the same by members of the Council. It shall invite the freest discussion and embody the new suggestions developed by such discussions. Any member making such suggestion or objection may put in writing his view, and the grounds therefor, and furnish the same to the secretary for the records of the Council. It shall prepare, thru its president, an annual report to the National Education Association, setting forth the questions considered by the Council during the previous year, and placing before the Association, in succinct form, the work accomplished. It shall embody in this report a survey of those educational topics which seem to call for any action on the part of the Association. The Council shall appoint, out of its own number, committees representing the several departments of education, and thereby facilitate the exchange of opinion among its members on such special topics as demand the attention of the profession or of the public.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE
NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION OF THE
UNITED STATES

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, ANN ARBOR, MICH., July 1, 1916

To the Executive Committee of the National Education Association:

The following is submitted as an annual report for the year ending June 30, 1916.

Members who are in the habit of comparing the various reports from year to year will probably notice two facts.

We have a cash balance nearly $2700 larger than a year ago. This is mainly due to the fact that only two of the committees for which appropriations were made last year had presented all their bills by the time the Treasurer's report was made up, and the unpaid appropriations amount to nearly $1700.

The expense of conducting the Secretary's office is about $500 larger than in other years. This is offset by the items of refund in connection with the contests.

The following committees have either presented final reports and been discharged or have completed the work for which they were appointed: Committee on Tests and Standards of Efficiency in Schools and School Systems, National Council of Education; Committee on Professional Relations, Department of Superintendence; Committee on Cosmopolitan High-School Curriculum, Department of Secondary Education; Committee on the Standards That Are Agreed Upon in the Proper Making of a Teacher, Department of Normal Schools; Committee on National Songs, Department of Music Education; Committee on Janitor Service, Department of Science Instruction; Committee on Standardizing the Course of Study in Library Instruction in Normal Schools, Library Department; Committee on Survey of the Public Schools, Department of Special Education.

I would suggest that action be taken at this meeting whereby the Proceedings of the Association may be printed in both magazine and volume form.

The following communication was presented to the annual meeting of active members of the National Education Association at Oakland, Cal., August 20, 1915, and the committee suggested was authorized:

Your Executive Committee, to whom is intrusted the responsibility for suggesting subjects for investigation by committees, would respectfully report:

That it received a communication from the American Society for Thrift asking that a committee be appointed to investigate the thrift problem concerning America, and to report on methods by which the subject of thrift may be taught in our public schools.

It also received a communication from S. W. Straus, the president of the Society for Thrift, in which he agreed to defray personally the expenses that would be incurred in the work of this committee. He also offered three cash prizes, in amounts of $1000, $250, and $100, which are to be awarded by the National Education Association for essays on this subject, the contest to be carried on under conditions named by the Association.

We therefore recommend that a committee be appointed to be known as the Committee on Thrift Education.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held on Monday, August 16, the directors recommended favorable action on this suggestion. Since that time the suggestion has come that it would be well to have this committee, if authorized by you, report to the National Council of Education and be made one of its committees.

It was decided to conduct two contests, one of which was open to school children and one to adults. The contest for adults was managed from this office, and the contest for children was managed under the following conditions:

Each county superintendent was asked to endeavor to secure a contest in each school within the county outside of cities of four thousand population. That figure was chosen because of the fact that it was the basis for the directory issued by the United States Commissioner of Education. It was suggested that each school select the three best essays that were presented, using any system in the selection which the teacher desired. The three best essays from each school were sent to the county school commissioner, who, in turn, by any method he saw fit, selected the five best essays from the schools of the county and sent them to the state superintendent. At the same time there was conducted in many city systems a similar contest under the direction of the superintendent of schools. Superintendents of cities of less than ten thousand population sent one essay to the state superintendent; superintendents of cities with a population between ten and fifty thousand sent two essays to the state superintendent; superintendents of cities of from fifty to one hundred thousand population sent three essays to the state superintendent; superintendents of cities of over one hundred thousand population sent four essays and one additional essay for each additional one hundred thousand population.

The state superintendent used any method he desired in determining the best essays from his state, and sent the ten best essays from his state to our office. We, in turn, had these essays rated and the prizes awarded accordingly.

These essays were on the general subject of "Thrift," the idea being to draw out the children's ideas on the subject without making any suggestions as to methods by which the same should be treated. Essays were limited to one thousand words. To the writer of the best essay a prize of one hundred dollars was to be awarded; to the writer of the second best, a prize of fifty dollars; to the writers of the third and fourth best, prizes of twenty-five dollars each; to the writers of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth best, ten dollars each.

The final judges in the school contest were:

Carrie E. Dicken, principal, Perry School, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Jason E. Hammond, former superintendent of public instruction, Lansing, Mich.

Clarence E. Vliet, superintendent of schools, Birmingham, Mich.

The winners were announced at the New York meeting. As near as can be estimated twenty thousand school children participated in the contest. It was found that four had tied for seventh place and so eleven prizes were given, as follows:

Nellie Harrington, Junior, Western High School, Washington, D.C.

William Deninger, Senior, Central High School, Scranton, Pa.

Ruth Carver, Senior, Girls High School, Louisville, Ky.

Charles Lane, Eighth Grade, Grammar School, Imperial, Cal.

Laura A. Yeater, Senior, High School, Mannington, W.Va.

Elinor Webster, Freshman, High School, New Brighton, Pa.

Nettie Mart, Junior, High School, Jamestown, N.D.

Abram Green, Senior, Technical High School, Scranton, Pa.

Zitella McClellan, Eighth Grade, Grammar School, Kaysville, Utah.

Firman DeMaris, Senior, Vocational School, Vineland, N.J.

Evan Alsip, Eighth Grade, Grammar School, Imperial, Cal.

In the adult contest, prizes were offered for the three best essays presented on the subject of "Thrift—with an Outline of a Method by Which the Principles of Thrift May Be Taught in Our Public Schools." The first prize was $750, the second prize $250, and the third prize $100.

Essays were presented from 42 states. The essays were limited to five thousand words. They were read and sorted by five preliminary sets of judges. The final judges were:

Ben Blewett, superintendent of schools, St. Louis, Mo.

Fred Farnsworth, secretary, American Bankers Association, New York, N.Y.

Charles McKenney, president, Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Josephine Corliss Preston, state superintendent of public instruction, Olympia, Wash.
John Wanamaker, merchant, Philadelphia, Pa.

The decision of the judges was announced at the Friday evening meeting of the Association in New York City. First prize was awarded to:

Teresa M. Lenney, Seventh Grade Teacher, Trinity Place School, New Rochelle, N.Y.

Four persons were tied for second place:

Francis V. Frisbie, former teacher, Wilkes-Barre High School, and secretary, Catholic Prohibition League of America, Indianapolis, Ind.

Alfred F. Howes, superintendent of schools, Manchester, Conn.

Isador Kaplan, teacher, Public School No. 43, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mrs. Cora L. Swafford, Minneapolis, Minn., former teacher, Carter Practice School, Chicago, Ill.

Special mention was made of the essays presented by:

T. W. DeHaven, director of commercial department, High School, Houghton, Mich.

Mrs. Evelyn King Gilmore, Selma, Ala., former teacher, Public Schools, Macon, Ga.

A monograph should be published containing these essays and a synopsis of the points brought out by the other writers.

In addition to the report of the business of the Secretary's office for the year July 1, 1915, to June 30, 1916, attention is called to the following record of the number of Active Members enrolled for the statistical year December 31, 1915, to December 31, 1916. The enrolment at the date of this report is 7,878. There have been added since the last membership list was published 1,133 new active members. The net increase in active members for the year is 437.

*Property located at 4763 Lake Park Avenue, Chicago, was obtained by foreclosure in 1907 to secure a mortgage loan made in 1899. It was listed at $5500 but was sold for $3500, causing a shrinkage in the total amount of the Permanent Fund.

The surplus receipts from the meetings of 1884 and 1885 and from other sources were turned over to the Board of Trustees at the time of the incorporation of the Association as the first instalment ($3400) of the Permanent Fund.

THE SECRETARY'S OFFICE

Since the establishment of an office for the Secretary, it has been the custom, under the direction of the Trustees and Board of Directors, for the Secretary to assume full charge of the collection of the annual dues and all other receipts at the annual convention, turning over the same to the Treasurer during the convention and accounting to the Treasurer directly for all money so collected. It has been the invariable custom for the Treasurer to check up all convention receipts, during the convention, from the original stubs of membership certificates issued, and to audit the same and receipt to the Secretary for all convention revenues, which revenues are, therefore, not included in the record of receipts at the Secretary's office as covered by this report.
